

Die Metallwoche Interview with Egon von Greyerz

written by Edward Maas | January 31, 2012

Metallwoche international – presents Egon von Greyerz „Money printing everywhere“

The logo for 'Die MetallWoche' features the text 'Die MetallWoche' in a sans-serif font. 'Die' is in a light grey color, 'Metall' is in a golden-yellow color, and 'Woche' is in a light grey color. A small golden-yellow circle is positioned to the right of the word 'Woche'. Below the text is a light grey rectangular background.

With another EU- Summit just in front of us and Gold and Silber strengthening again, we speak to Egon von Greyerz not only about the market, but also about the worldwide debt crisis and how he judges the situation with his view out of Switzerland. Von Greyerz is the Founder and Managing Partner of Matterhorn Asset Management (MAM) and its Precious Metals Division – GoldSwitzerland, based in Zurich Switzerland.

Egon von Greyerz makes regular media appearances such as on CNBC and BBC and also speaks at investment conferences around the world. He also publishes articles on the world economy and wealth preservation which are featured on websites such as The Daily Reckoning, JSMineset (Jim Sinclair), Zerohedge, GATA, Casey Research, , 321Gold, 24hGold, Gold Eagle and many others. EVG is a frequent guest with James Turk of Goldmoney and Eric King from Kingworldnews.

We talk to Egon about the current situation in Europe, the problems with debts, the role of the ECB and the IWF, Greece and how Germany will handle the situation. We talk about the gigantic bubble in derivatives, threatening developments concerning the pension funds, the role of the central banks, manipulation of gold, the bullion banks and much more. Von Greyerz gives us also an interesting update on his current view on Switzerland. Is it still a safe and stable country you can rely on and store your physical precious metals safely? And of course we talk about his views on Gold and Silver.

The interview with Egon von Greyerz was done by Michael, from Metallwoche.de

Enjoy the show!