

Emerging Markets Chaos to engulf the whole world

written by Edward Maas | February 3, 2014

In this week's audio interview, Egon outlines to Eric King how the severe emerging market problems will spread to the overbought and overvalued stock markets in the West, leading to a secular bear market.

This crisis will eventually engulf the whole world since there is no safe area anywhere. There is no country that can stand outside this chaos due to a fragile system based massive on debts, deficits and overvaluations

MSCI EMERGING MARKETS INDEX

SOURCE: BLOOMBERG NEWS

ANDREW BARR / NATIONAL POST

Click here to link to the audio interview

Click here to link to the KWN written article