

Gordon T Long talks with Egon von Greyerz about Financial Repression

written by Edward Maas | September 5, 2014

Gordon T Long interviews Egon von Greyerz – 3 Sept. 2014

“The risks are now greater than the world has ever faced”

In this Youtube audio interview, Egon discusses with Gordon the severe repercussions of Financial Repression which Egon defines as “Manipulation and interference by government in the running of the economy and the lives of normal people”

In the discussion (supported by many interesting graphs) Egon states that with zero interest and massive debts that cannot be repaid, governments have no further weapons in their armoury. Therefore Egon maintains that, “The risks are now greater than the world has ever faced and that things will be very different and more difficult for our children and grandchildren than for us.”

Courtesy Macro Analytics