KWN Interview August 30, 2012

Today Egon von Greyerz told King World News, "I'm seeing how massive amounts of money are within the system, and people think they are safe, but they are not." Greyerz, who is founder and managing partner at Matterhorn Asset Management out of Switzerland, also warned, "This is the illusion that people are living under, and it's very sad. That's not going to be the case. The banks are going to close if there is a problem, and people are not going to get access to their assets."

Here is what Greyerz had to say: "Right now the markets are in a waiting game. They are waiting for Bernanke's Jackson Hole speech tomorrow. They are (also) waiting for the German court decision which is on the 12th of September. This is to decide if they are going to approve the ESM (European Stability Mechanism), which replaces the EFSF."
