

The Present Financial System Will Not Survive

written by Edward Maas | January 30, 2015

King World News weekly – Jan 29, 2015

Egon von Greyerz: “Eric, as you know I’ve had a long-standing forecast – for over 10 years – that gold will reach $10,000 in today’s money. I’m also convinced that in the future the world won’t have anything resembling today’s money because of all the money printing that will take place as well as the accompanying hyperinflations. So in real terms the gold price will be a lot higher than $10,000. Everything is falling into place for the destruction of the current monetary system. Unfortunately this will also destroy a lot of people’s lives because they won’t be prepared or even understand why the worldwide meltdown is happening...”

Click here to read the interview