

The world isn't running out of oil; it's running into it – Engdahl

written by Edward Maas | July 17, 2013

“The Matterhorn Interview – July 2013: Part 3, F. William Engdahl”

“Part 3: The world isn't running out of oil; it's running into it”

German investigative journalist Lars Schall met economic researcher and geopolitical analyst F. William Engdahl for a special series of 3 video interviews. In Part One, published July 15, titled “The Race Out of the Door” (19 minutes), Engdahl discussed, inter alia: the deeper causes for the financial crisis; modern banking as a giant confidence game; America's so called “Asia Pivot” and the Trans-Pacific Partnership; the bubbles in American stock and global bond markets; and too much power in too few hands on Wall Street.

In Part Two, “There is No Such Thing as a Free Market” (11 minutes), Engdahl shared his views on the managed nature of the precious metals markets; the naked short selling in the paper markets; rising gold stocks in China; declining gold stocks in Western vaults; and the long-term perspectives for physical gold and silver.

“Part 3: The world isn't running out of oil; it's running into it” (25 mins)

Matterhorn Asset Management is dedicated to wealth preservation through safe and secure silver and gold storage in Switzerland. Protect your gold in the world's safest vaults. To become a client, click here.